Summary of Amendments Approved for Consideration by the 2022 Constitutional Convention

The Constitutional Review Committee (“Committee”) considered a total of 13 proposed amendments to the Revised Constitution of American Samoa (“Revised Constitution”). The Committee also reviewed editorial changes. After careful deliberation, the Committee agreed to recommend for consideration by the 2022 Constitutional Convention 8 amendments as summarized below and in this report.

1. American Samoa Ancestry Amendment. This amendment clarifies that the protections in Article I Section 3 of the Revised Constitution are limited to persons of American Samoa ancestry and do not apply generally to other Samoans without American Samoa ancestry. (See page 4).

2. House of Representatives Amendment. Revising Article II Section 2 of the Revised Constitution, this amendment would increase the total number of seats in the American Samoa House of Representatives from 20 to a number to be determined at the Constitutional Convention. This would be accomplished by adding additional seats to Representative District No. 12 - Ituau, and Representative District No. 15 - Ma’upu. The Committee did not reach a majority agreement on the actual number of seats to add to these districts. (See pages 7, 8, 9).

3. Veto Override Amendment. This amendment revises two sections of the Revised Constitution - Article II Sections 9 and 19 - to remove the authority of the U.S. Secretary of Interior to approve or disapprove a bill passed by the Fono over the Governor’s veto. (See pages 11 and 13).

4. Impeachment Amendment. This amendment would add a new Section 26 under Article II of the Revised Constitution to provide a process for impeachment of certain government officials - Governor, Lt. Governor, and Chief Justice, Associate Justices, Associate Judges, and District Court Judges. (See pages 14-15).

5. Chief Justice Amendment. The Committee proposes revisions to Article III Section 3 of the Revised Constitution to remove the authority of the U.S. Secretary of Interior to appoint the Chief Justice of American Samoa and any Associate Justices. This decision will be left to the Governor of American Samoa subject to confirmation by the Fono. This amendment also clarifies that the Chief Justice and Associate Justices shall hold their offices during good behavior until resignation, retirement, death, or impeachment. (See page 15).

6. Removing Secretary Authority to Review decisions of the American Samoa High Court. This amendment adds a new Section 4 in Article III of the Revised Constitution removing the authority of the U.S. Secretary of Interior to review or overturn a decision by the American Samoa High Court. (See page 15).

7. Constitutional Process Amendment. This amendment removes the authority of the U.S. Secretary of Interior in approving amendments to the Revised Constitution. Instead, amendments to the Revised Constitution proposed by the Legislature or the constitutional convention, or a revised draft constitution proposed by the constitutional convention shall become effective if approved by at least two-thirds of votes cast at the general election. Article V Section 2 is revised to reflect the new process for amendments originating from the Legislature. Article V Section 4 is revised to provide for amendments or revised draft constitution proposed by the constitutional convention. (See pages 18 and 19).

8. Government of American Samoa vs. American Samoa Government Amendment. The Committee also agreed to remove all references in the body of the Revised Constitution referring to our local government as the “Government of American Samoa.” The Committee recommends that the preferred name of our government “American Samoa Government” be inserted in place of “Government of American Samoa.”

The following proposals were not approved by the Constitutional Review Committee:

- 1) a motion on whether to review and link the reapportionment of the Senate with the proposed amendment to reapportion the House of Representatives;
- 2) the proposed “American Samoa Lands Amendment” to revise Article I, Section 3. Policy protective legislation on: 1) whether “all acquisitions of communal and individually-owned lands by the American Samoa Government ... shall revert to their rightful owners when the government determines there is no longer a need for public use and 2) whether the Legislature shall enact laws to prohibit further individualization of communal lands.;
- 3) the proposed “Amendment for Women” to add to the Preamble the value statement “Whereas, the American Samoa Government shall be committed to women’s inclusion, safety, and justice...”;
- 4) on whether to consider and amend Article II, Section 2 to grant the delegate from Swains Island all the rights and privileges of a member of the House including the right to vote; and

- 5) whether to amend Article V, Section 3 and Article V, Section 4 and allow special elections for amendments or revised draft constitution for ratification by voters.

Such legislation as may be necessary may be enacted to protect the lands, customs, culture, and traditional Samoan family organization of persons of American Samoan ancestry, and to encourage business enterprises by such persons. No change in the law respecting the alienation or transfer of land or any interest therein shall be effective unless the same be approved by two successive legislatures by a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of each house and by the Governor.
